

SUCCESS
REIMAGINED

This is not your ordinary community college.

This is an education for the 21st century. A college that learns from industry trends, adapts to the changing job market and listens to its students. This is an education for right now and for the years ahead.

This is a world-class medical lab, a cyber-training academy, a five-star kitchen and an auto repair training center. This is an artists' workshop, a career boot camp, and a championship-level sports program. This is a group of acclaimed professors and a devoted staff who will stand at your side.

This is a class schedule for real life. This is online or in person, morning, noon or night at six locations across Monmouth County.

Whether you're 19 or 90, from down the road or across the globe, whether you want to learn a new skill or earn a master's degree, this college is literally designed for you.

This is not your ordinary community college. This is Brookdale. This is college redefined. This is success reimagined.

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS

This year's theme is: STOP PLASTIC POLLUTION, NOW!

Just take a look around your house, your office, the stores and offices you visit, cars, and everywhere to see how plastic has replaced natural or even metallic products. When a plastic reaches its useful life, especially the disposable objects, if it's not recycled it can become a problem on land & in waterways and oceans. Plastic pollution everywhere endangers land, sky, and sea creatures that can consume or get entangled in it.

WHAT CAN YOU DO TO PREVENT PLASTIC DEBRIS IN THE OCEAN? The 3 Rs

- REDUCE the amount of trash you produce especially plastic products like cups, straws, containers
- Choose items you can REUSE over disposable products
- RECYCLE items, instead of disposing of them, to create new products.

When we, as NJFC take one aspect of the whole plastic pollution spectrum, the dangers of plastics in our waterways people ask us:

1. Where Does Plastic Debris Originate? Plastic debris can enter the ocean in a variety of way: From land, trash may be carried to the ocean in rivers or storm and sewage drains, swept from the beach by waves and surf, or blown offshore by winds, especially during heavy storms. Trash may also come from ships or offshore platforms.

2. What Does Plastic Debris Look Like? The most recognizable fragments are from plastic six pack holders, bottles, fishing lines and nets and industrial resin pellets, the "raw material" of consumer plastic products. Most samples collected are small fragments less than 1 cm in size. The most disturbing and visible example of this are called plastic vortexes—sometimes incorrectly called garbage patches—which exist in all the oceans.

3. What Kind Of Plastic Is It?

- Plastics that float: Common household items such as milk jugs, plastic bags, and drinking straws are made of high density & low density polyethylene, and PP polypropylene which are lighter than the water they displace.
- Plastics that sinks: Other commonly used plastic types such as PET, polyethylene terephthalate, PVC, polyvinyl chloride, and PS, polystyrene are denser than seawater, they likely sink before reaching the open ocean. The properties of plastics appear to change over time at sea, possibly due to sun/sea exposure, & biological growth.

NJ Friends of Clearwater networks with many organizations and colleagues on this issue. One, the NOAA Marine Debris Program has supported more than 140 projects across the U.S., while many other organizations are working to raise awareness, clean up marine debris on beaches and in the ocean, and reduce the input of debris into the oceans through "Reduce, Reuse, and Recycle" campaigns.

Public education and action is the best way to prevent debris from entering the ocean now and in the future.

Special Thanks:

As Festival Co-ordinator I would like to thank Jack and Barbara Charlton for their input and endless help. A huge thank you to Isis Ra for her beautiful painting of an Orca surrounded by a sea of "plastic trash". Also, Brian Ostering for his endless hours of work putting together another great year of entertainment. Ingrid Heldt for all her efforts throughout the year and at the festival for her work co-ordinating and running the Circle of Song. Not to mention everyone else who have jumped in when need be. We also give very special thanks to our host, Brookdale Community College and their event manager Nil Onder; and the students from Brookdale's Environmental Science program and Environmental Club. Finally, thanks to the monumental support for untold number of years to: Saker ShopRite for their steadfast sponsorship. and to a new friend, SJS Specialty Company for printing our t-shirts in record time. I would like to welcome Manatees United this year, they are a new activist group made up of a group of great kids. Please be sure and visit their table. Thank you to all the volunteers that work throughout the year to put the festival together. This year I would also like to ask that we take a moment to remember our members that we lost this year, Ray Cann was a long time member of the organization who even after no longer being an active member played a big role in our organization not only in helping promote us, but also as keeper of our festival equipment. Lillian Moore could always be found during the festival in the Hospitality Tent helping to prepare food to help feed our hungry volunteers and festival goers a like. Also, Nick Kulibaba; my mom's brother, he only volunteered one year at the event but had always gave me tips and useful ideas throughout the 17 years I have been involved with this organization. The organization as a whole would like to send well wishes and hope for a speedy recovery to Barbara Charlton as she deals with a health issue.

NJFC's
Garvey
~
"Pete's Banjo"

THE ENVIRONMENTAL SAIL PROGRAM

The Environmental Sail Program (ESP) and its Tuckerton garvey continues its record of being on the water every summer since 1986 and into the future. Our original Tuckerton Garvey Adam Hyler was retired two seasons ago and was donated and delivered to Tuckerton Seaport and Baymen Museum, Tuckerton, NJ on March 30, 2014. Upon delivery, Paul Hart, TSBM Exec Director declared, "We are proud to be the new home for the Adam Hyler. Thank you and all the wonderful folks who have worked so hard to make people aware of their role in the stewardship of our world."

Its replacement, Pete's Banjo was designed, and constructed over a two year period. While the Adam Hyler was a true replica of the centuries' old design and original plank-caulk hull build techniques, the 26 foot Pete's Banjo will follow that design but has been built with modern techniques including fiberglassing the hull to be more maintainable and seaworthy in its role as keystone of our ESP which includes being the flagship for Navesink Sea Scout Ship #5.

The original garveys, used for clamming and oystering because of their shallow draft, were built there before the American Revolution. Its design will allow NJ Clearwater sailors and captains to perform the following ESP initiatives with ease:

- Flagship of Navesink Sea Scout Ship #5 • Sailing, Lots of Sailing
- Boat Building and River Rangers • Nature Tours and Birding on the Navesink
- Water Testing • Oyster Bed Creation And Maintenance

Sailing, Lots of Sailing. Both NJFC volunteers and guests get to sail on the beautiful Navesink River from June through October. To qualify to sail on the Pete's Banjo requires one thing; show up on scheduled weekly sail days. With ample notice, arrangements can be made with the captains to sail for pleasure or purpose on days other than those scheduled. Email: esp@njclearwater.org or call (732) 784-8547.
